

Sources

I've compiled a list of the sources used for the weekly AI news alongside a few notes on how good they are and an overall ranking. All of these (bar twitter) have newsletters that you can sign up to.

AI News Sources

Aa Source	Comment	Overall rating	Link
Top ML papers of the week	Excellent. Usually has some really good papers in the top 10. Very good for top papers of the week.	★★★★★	here
Twitter	Twitter is fantastic but obviously impossible to look at it without getting distracted!	★★★★★	here
TLDR AI	Usually okay. Quite sensationalist/tech-focused but has the main stories	★★★	here
Center for AI Safety newsletter	Don't tend to read too often but comes out at random times (not weekly). Often a summary of longer-term research. Often contains some nuggets when it is released!	★★	here
Jack Clark's newsletter (Import AI)	Really long and quite infrequent. Not so much news as random topics. Jack Clark is the CEO (I think?) of Anthropic. Good read when you have time.	★★	here
AlphaSignal	Weekly (?) which is a bit too infrequent. I find this is quite often behind the others. Sometimes has good papers and also includes random pytorch tips and GitHub repos	★★	here
ThursdAI newsletter/podcast	Weekly podcast on news. No papers really but comprehensive on tech news and model releases. Very sensationalist. Sends out a weekly newsletter too and the highlight section is generally good.	★★	here
AI News daily newsletter	Insanely long! A small human section but the rest is AI summaries of different communities. Often has a couple of bits of news at the top which the others miss. Too long to really read.	★★	here
Hugging Face Daily Papers list	Daily newsletter. Provides a list of the 'top' papers on arXiv that day. Okay if you know what to look for but need a lot of time as ~10 a day	★★	here
Deep Learning Weekly	Generally is behind the others (perhaps because it's weekly). I don't tend to get much new stuff from this. Don't read it too often though.	★	here
Google Scholar alerts	Obviously depends on the google scholar search options you set up but generally find this to be pretty poor.	★	here
TLDR	Pretty poor. Quite sensationalist/tech focused. Anything AI related is in TLDR AI anyway	★	here
